-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 21-24 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Simmons.

Simmons discloses a container 10 having a plurality of upstandable sidewalls (the upstandable sidewalls of liner 28) interconnected by a floor pan (the floor portion of liner 28), at least one upstandable reinforcing panel (one of the pair of sidewalls 20) releasably connected to at least one of the sidewalls (at nipple 38 and port 40 connections), the sidewall is reinforceable with the upstanding reinforceable panel, the reinforceable panel being releasable from the sidewall without separation from the container (the reinforceable panel separates from the sidewall at the nipple/port connections while remaining connected to the container at a hinged connection adjacent the bottom edge of the reinforceable panel so that the panel may fold horizontally when the container is collapsed as shown in Fig. 2).

Re claim 34, insofar as disclosed the present invention includes a floor pan support 48 articulably joined to the reinforceable panel 42. Simmons discloses a similar construction with floor portion 14 articulably joined to reinforceable panel 20, the reinforceable panel 20 is removably attachable to the outer surface of floor pan through an indirect connection of the reinforceable panel 20 to the sidewall of the liner which is connected to the floor of the liner.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 25 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Simmons.

Simmons discloses the invention except for the opening in the port would not be considered a slot because a circular hole is not elongated. It would have been obvious to modify the circular hole and the correspondingly shaped nipple to be elongated to provide an alignment feature and to extend the length of engagement to make the connection stronger.

Claims 27 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Simmons in view of Spykerman et al. (Spykerman).

Spykerman discloses the invention except for the notches. Spykerman teaches hand graspable notches 121, 131. It would have been obvious to add the notches to the reinforceable panel to provide easier grasping of the panel. Official notice is taken that plural finger grip notches are well known. It would have been obvious to modify the single hand notch to have a plurality of finger notches to enhance the comfort of the hand grip.
